

PRESS RELEASE

2 November 2004

...promoting a new kind of dialogue

The Transatlantic Institute are sponsoring Europe's largest non-partisan Election Night Party in London's Soho, with over 400 confirmed attendees.

Ziba Norman, the TI's research director, says "As far as we are aware this is the first ever event of its type to be held in Europe. There is obviously a very strong interest in US politics and the presidential election, and we have been stunned by the enthusiastic response to our event tonight.

"Our institute exists, amongst other things, to harness that interest, especially with the younger community, many of whom will be joining us this evening. The need for clear analysis and objectives for both the United States and Europe is greater than ever, and this will be so whether we have a Bush or Kerry administration in the White House come January."

The festivities begin at 8:00 pm in Soho, members of the press who are interested should contact us on 07977 313948 or email info@t-i.org.uk
